Sweeping Victory For Republican Ticket

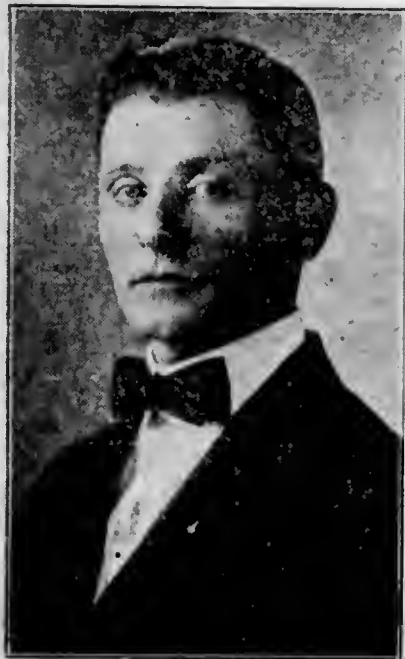

Go In From 500 to 1,000 Majority

Republicans Carry Every District in the County. Elect Five Magistrates. Democrats Save One—J. M. Howard Elected from 5th District Without Opposition.

Arthur Beard's Majority for County Court Clerk over 1000. Dr. Parks, for Senator, Carries District by from 400 to 500.

Smith, Republican candidate for Mayor of Louisville, elected by a small majority.

Republican county ticket in Hancock elected by usual majorities.

J. B. CARMAN, Sheriff.

CITY ELECTION

A New Mayor and Council and Police Judge Elected—Much Interest Taken in the Mayor's Race.

Yesterday's election resulted as follows:

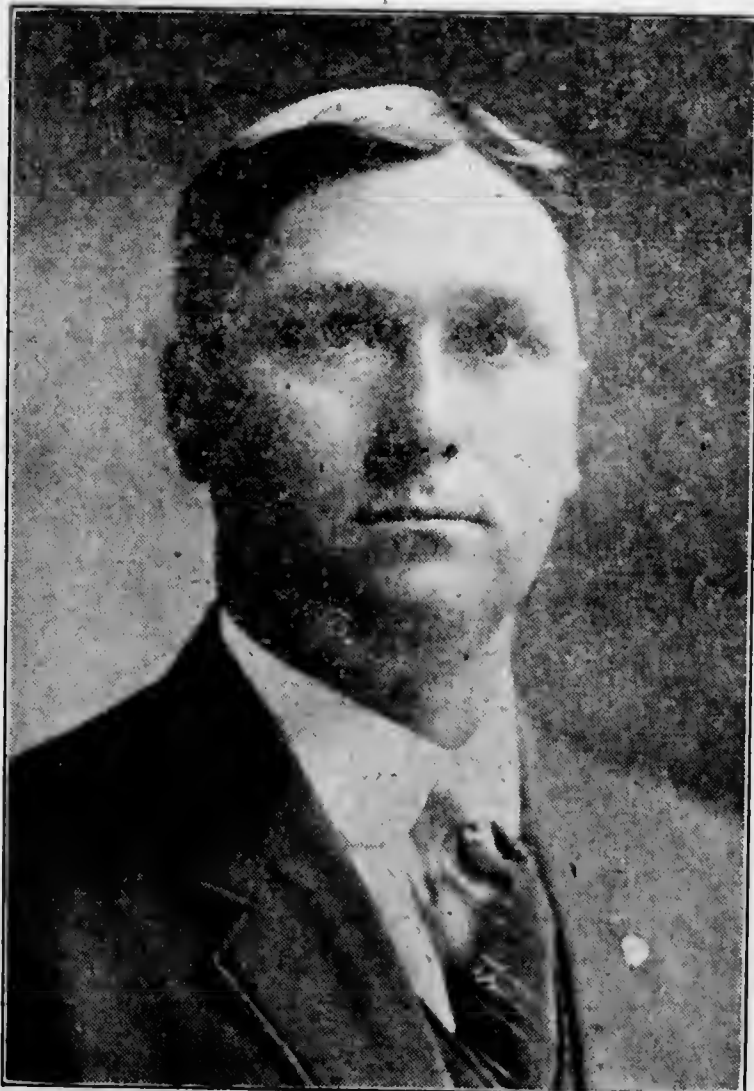

Mayor—J. A. Barry.
Police Judge—C. G. Brabant.
Councilmen—H. L. Stader, E. M. Wedding, Julian Brown, Ed. Whitehead, Thos. Bohler, Barney Squires.

The mayoralty race was very close between C. W. Hamman and J. A. Barry, there being only 28 votes in Mr. Barry's favor.

In the race for Police Judge there were three candidates, C. G. Brabant, V. G. Babbage and J. H. Dean. Mr. Brabant defeated his opponents by a good margin.

The new Council is made of good, hustling business men, and will do their part in giving the city a clean administration.

Earliest Use of Mineral Ink.
In ancient times India ink, made from lampblack and glue, was used for writing on papyrus, but inspection of the earliest vellum or parchment MSS. shows that iron gall ink was introduced not later than the ninth century. The reason for the change was that, although a carbon ink is more permanent, it has no penetrating power and can be sponged from the vellum, whereas the iron ink bites into the fibers and resists the destructive action of both air and light.

ARTILLERY RANGE AT WEST POINT

City Recommended As Ideal Site by Col. Johnson and Col. Corey. To Comprise 18,000 Acres.

The artillery range at Camp Zachary Taylor will in all probability be located at West Point, Ky. A tract of land comprising 18,000 acres, six miles wide and eighteen miles long, has been recommended to the War Department for the big guns in field artillery practice.

A week ago Col. Johnson and Lieut. Col. Corey, an officer from the Central Department, are said to have recommended this site as being ideal for the range. Both Col. Johnson and Lieut. Col. Corey declined to make any statement. It is known that the three officers comprising the board have inspected this site and several others.

Plans are going forward for the establishment of the range. Three artillery regiments are assigned at Camp Zachary Taylor, and they will soon be equipped with heavy guns. It is said that one regiment will march to the range, go under canvas and stay a certain length of time. The artillerymen will live in the tents and practice both in daytime and at night. The schedules are said to call for dummy cavalry targets, dummy companies of infantry that will be moved by mechanical devices on the range. The artillerymen will find the range of these dummies and, using real shells, will try to make a perfect score.

The artillery section at Camp Taylor has received one battery of guns. The men of this battery are learning to hold their positions on the gun carriages without falling off. The guns have not been handled with horses yet.—Louisville Post.

Harris-Howard.

TO THE TOBACCO GROWERS OF HARDINSBURG SECTION:

I take this method of correcting an erroneous impression that seems to be current among tobacco growers of the Hardinsburg vicinity. The mere fact that Mr. Withers will make his headquarters at Owensboro instead of Hardinsburg will not effect my activity on the Hardinsburg market in the least, as it is my intention to buy upon the loose leaf floor at Hardinsburg as I have done in the past, and I am hopeful of doing a more extensive business there this season than I have in the past. The business there will be conducted under the supervision of Mr. Withers and as suggested, I expect to buy more liberally from the loose leaf market there than I have in previous seasons.

I trust that the above may correct the false impression caused by the removal of Mr. Withers' headquarters.

Signed,
J. S. Feland,
Owensboro.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffious gave an elaborate dinner party at their home in the West and Saturday evening to celebrate their twenty fifth wedding anniversary.

The home was prettily decorated for the occasion and just before the dinner hour, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffious had the marriage ceremony resaid by the Rev. W. L. Baker.

An elegant dinner was served to fifty guests who were: Rev. W. L. Baker and Mrs. Baker, Dr. J. C. Baucum and Mrs. Baucum, Mr. and Mrs. John Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Burden, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Worden, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Penner, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Moorman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Norris, Owensboro, Mrs. Viola Jackson, Mrs. Fred May Sr., Mrs. John Ryan, Miss Anna May Penner, Miss Grace Pauley, Miss Ida Bell Morrison, Messrs. Joe D. Morrison and Wm. Smith.

Red Cross Entertainment

Cleared $38.75.

The Red Cross entertainment, given at the American Theatre, Friday evening, under the direction of Mrs. J. Proctor Keith, proved to be quite successful in a financial way and the program as a whole was very good.

The theatre was comfortably filled and the net proceeds amounted to $38.75 which will be added to the local Red Cross fund.

Sunday School To Have Flag.

Ira D. Behen, Superintendent of the Cloverport Methodist Sunday School, has appointed a committee to purchase a U. S. flag for the Sunday School. The flag will be 10 1/2 x 12 ft., and will be hung on the West side wall back of the pulpit in the auditorium thus making it perceptible all over the church.

FOOD IS NOT WASTED AT CAMP TAYLOR

According to a Letter From Major Gen. Hale. Denies the Report That Canned Goods Will be Confiscated.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.—That the food economy practiced by the housewives of Kentucky will not be in vain so far as the co-operation of the army is concerned is assured in a letter from the commander of Camp Zachary Taylor here made public today by F. M. Sackett, Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky. This letter shows that the army training camps are doing everything science can suggest to prevent waste in the feeding of hundreds of thousands of men. The letter follows: Headquarters 8th Division, Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky, October 29, 1917.

Mr. F. M. Sackett, Food Administrator for Kentucky, Speed Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

My dear Mr. Sackett: Knowing of the vital concern of your office in the conservation and economical use of food, I am quite encouraged in results obtained along this line at Camp Zachary Taylor.

When I first came here this matter was taken up and it was impressed upon subalterns to thoroughly instruct their cooks and dining room help as to the necessity of preventing waste and as to the methods of securing this result. Since that time, in daily inspections of the camp, I have taken pains to inspect the garbage cans and assure myself, through this means and others, that the orders are being carried out.

From these inspections it is evident that we are succeeding in preventing waste in this camp, and I am writing to inform you that you may know at first hand the facts in the case.

Very sincerely yours,

HHK (Signed) Harry Hale,

Major General, N. A.

Mr. Sackett also reiterated today his denial of any intention on the part of the government to restrict or confiscate supplies of the citizens. He issued the following statement:

"There is absolutely no truth in the story that is being given circulation, by persons unfriendly to their country's cause, that signers of the Food Conservation Pledge Cards this week are in favor of having part of their canned goods confiscated by the Government. This rumor has been repeatedly denied by the Food Administration, but apparently it persists. It is pro-German propaganda, and persons circulating it are giving aid and comfort to the cause of America's enemies."

F. M. Sackett, Federal Food Admin., Kentucky.

Nov. 16 Arbor Day.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 4.—Arbor Day will be celebrated in Kentucky, Nov. 16. Gov. Stauley will proclaim the day and State Superintendent, V. O. Gilbert, and State Forester, J. R. Barton, will collaborate to make the occasion of State-wide interest.

CLOVERPORT TO GIVE $150.00

For the Y. M. C. A. War Fund. W. J. Piggott, County Chairman and D. B. Phelps, Chairman of Cloverport.

At the district meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Secretaries which met in Owensboro last Tuesday, definite plans were formulated in order to raise the $9,675, the sum allotted to this district which includes six counties, and is to be raised for carrying on the war work of the Y. M. C. A.

Of the $9,675 Breckinridge county will raise $550 and probably more. Cloverport's share of the $550 will be $150. Mr. W. J. Piggott of Irvington was appointed county chairman and Mr. David B. Phelps is chairman of the Cloverport district and Mr. Paul Compton of the Hardinsburg district. These men with Mr. Herbert Beard of Hardinsburg attended the conference in Owensboro.

Mr. Phelps is anxious that the amount allotted to this city shall be over subscribed and he is making plans to have a public meeting sometime next week and efforts are being made to secure a furlough for Capt. Fred Adams of Camp Zachary Taylor to come and assist in raising the fund.

Troops to See France.

Paris, Nov. 4.—The French Government is preparing to co-operate with the American authorities in entertaining American soldiers on leave. An unofficial committee of French Deputies has been organized to make plans for taking groups of soldiers during their leave to the principal regions and show places of France.

The committee will obtain co-operation by the local authorities in entertaining the men in the places visited.

Drafted Men Here Soon

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 5.—Information received today from Provost Marshall General Crowder was to the effect that the remainder of Kentucky's draft army would be ordered to Camp Taylor before the last of the month.

THE HOME BOYS IN SERVICE.

According to all reports, the Cloverport people have every reason to feel very proud of the home boys, both those who are in training and those who are in service. One of the home boys, heard from lately and one who is undoubtedly making good as a soldier, is Donnard Smith. It is no longer Don Smith, but Sergeant Smith, because he was promoted to that rank last week. Sgt. Smith was one of the first draftees from this county who went to Camp Zachary Taylor in September. He was a private only a short while when he was made Corporal and from that he grew to be a Sergeant in Co. M, 336 Inf. Besides being a sergeant, he has been selected as one of the few men in the pistol and rifle section which is also an honor. Sgt. Smith's friends will be glad to hear of his attainments in the military ranks.

Another home boy who is making good is Fred D. Pierce, who has finished his six months' course in wireless telegraphy at Harvard College, Boston, and he is now aboard the U. S. S. Kentucky on unknown waters.

A letter from one of the home boys at Camp Zachary Taylor bears the good news of Mike Tucker, who has just been promoted to the rank of corporal. Corp. Tucker's friends will be glad to hear this but it is no more than they expected of an ambitious young man like him.

The soldiers of company M, 336 Inf., which includes the majority of Breckinridge county boys, have been quarantined on account of measles. They will remain quarantined twenty-one more days and if no new cases develop before then they will be released.

Following are more Cloverport boys whose names have been added to the Honor Roll.

RAILROADS ARE GOOD EXAMPLES

Of Corporate Patriotism Doing
All They Can To Prevent
Blockades In The Distribution Of Food And Other Necessaries.

The following extract from a recent sermon of Rev. James W. Vallentyne, D. D., a prominent pastor of Chicago, setting up the railroads is an example of true patriotism.

"I believe in the patriotism that shows its worth by its work. I want a patriotism that is four-square in peace and in war. I want a patriotism that resents external insolence, crookedness and atrocity. I want a patriotism that resents internal greed and exploitation.

"The man who makes profit on the unburied bread of widows and fatherless children in days like these—

"He who takes meats and fruits and vegetables from the tables of the homes where the one picture on the wall is of the man in khaki—

"He who will cause cabbage and potatoes to rot, eggs and fowl to grow stale, that he may extort his full pound of flesh from heart broken women and crying children—

They are felonious, they are atrocious, they are scum on America's melting pot. I would chain them hand and foot and march them to Earth's icy pinnacle, where they might stand as frozen statuary, to receive the scorn of a God loved world for a thousand generations.

"Capital has its supreme opportunity to show that the genius and spirit of its captains is broad, mighty and devoted to the public good. Labor has an equal opportunity to show that its fight for its rights is not tainted with base greed that it does not lie in wait for an opportunity to take advantage of a public condition to force an increase of wages, regardless of national welfare.

"We are justly proud of some of our labor leaders and of thousands of patriotic individuals in the labor. We are enthusiastic over the intelligent and patriotic action of some of our great corporation managers.

"The railways are a splendid example. Five days after war was declared the railway presidents of America were met in congress, devising means by which they might contribute most to ready and telling action of their country at war.

"They at once put the ban upon all rivalries for business. The 700 companies put their 250,000 miles of railway into one tremendous unit to serve our country at war.

"The tax of increased business might easily have created blockade and confusion and defeat. These real Americans, with great genius and throbbing patriotism, leaped to the side of the President and gave him their equipment, their organization, their brains and their experience, to put over the biggest job America has ever undertaken.

"They did not wait for federal machinery to call them to service. They unified for the nation's service. They are working at peace-time rates. They put all at the command of their government.

"This is a striking example to corporate patriotism, a fine exhibit of private control, a commendable illustration of American efficiency."

Buyers Choose The Store That Advertises!

Most people pass right by the store that's behind the times and patronize the modern, up-to-date store where all the latest and best methods of doing business are in use. The store that is up-to-date is the one that advertises. The very atmosphere about the store is reflected in the announcements, for advertising suggests modern methods—progress, good merchandise and a cheerfulness in making suggestions for the busy buyer who hasn't time enough to try to think what is needed. Then again, the merchant who advertises sells so much more goods that he can afford to sell cheaper than others and still make money.

Cut the Ship in Two.
"I was a passenger on one of the old fashioned sailing steamers going from London to Australia in 1888," said a traveler. "In the Red sea we ran plump into a vessel, and our boat cut it entirely in two, so neatly that it might almost have been done with a huge knife. We went clean through her, and the men on the vessel struck stepped from the two halves of that ship on to our deck. The injured vessel went down within a few minutes after it had been struck. The thing was so strange that when the captain of the vessel we had struck went back to London an investigation was held, and it was substantially proved that the officers had with design got in the immediate track of our vessel in order to bring about a collision in the hope that they could collect insurance money. The captain and some of the officers were punished by imprisonment."

In Old Havana.
In old Havana one catches charming glimpses through open doorways of long, small patios. There are plants about and bird cages and freshly washed clothes hanging on lines near the walls, women gossiping, washing and cooking and all shades of brown children playing in the sunshine. Sometimes one obtains a glance at a negress with a big black cigar in her mouth and frequently encounters one walking in the street smoking away unconcernedly. Here is a land very near in point of distance, yet as far different from ours in language, ideas, customs and all else as one can imagine.—New York Telegram.

To Kill Weevils in Dry Beans.

Put the shelled beans in a watertight barrel, set a saucer on top of them and pour a half cupful of carbon disulphide in the saucer and cover at once with two thicknesses of heavy wrapping paper, or, better, building paper, and tie securely so as to make the barrel as near air-tight as possible. Leave this for twenty-four hours. If the first treatment does not kill all weevils, repeat, and put the paper on still closer. Keep all lights away, as the gas is explosive.—Southern Agriculturist.

JUST A FEW RE- FUSED TO 'HOOVERIZE'

Homes Conspicuous Where Food Administration Cards Are Not In Evidence--Methodist Church Gives Out Report Cards.

The Committee on Food Conservation Pledge Cards report their work as very successful. They only reported a few incidents where the householders refused to sign the pledge. One woman refused to sign the first time and after reconsidering the matter she signed the pledge and is now one of the most enthusiastic "Hooverizers" in town. The homes where the Food Administration Cards are not in evidence are rather conspicuous, because it shows either a lack of co-operation with the Government in helping to win the war, or a case of ignorance, so those who have signed the pledge and haven't their membership card where they can be seen, owe it to themselves to bring them to light.

The members of the Methodist church have been given report cards on which they are to report how many meatless, wheatless and wasteless meals they have had during the week. These cards will be given out for nine consecutive weeks and it is done merely for the Committees of the National Food Administration Bureau to determine how far the people are complying with the request for saving food.

Origin of a Postal Custom.

The steamship Oregon was lost off Fire Island on March 14, 1896. She was rammed by a coastwise schooner, remaining afloat for half an hour, a time which made it possible to save every person aboard. When her mail was fished up and delivered the pieces were stamped with a statement that they had been in the wreck, the first instance of a practice which is now employed by direction of the international postal union. The credit for this simple device is believed to be due to Edward M. Morgan, at that time in a subordinate position in the New York postoffice, who foresaw that a few minutes' work with a rubber stamp would forestall an infinitude of complaint.—New York Sun.

UNCLE SAM LANDLORD

May Have to Build Homes for War Workers.

Great Influx of Laborers at "War-Bride" Cities Puts Living Space at a Premium.

Washington.—With thousands of workmen crowding into the "war-bride" cities of the nation, Uncle Sam faces the proposition of becoming a landlord or having his important war work crippled. The crowded conditions in many industrial centers already are hampering the work of munitions manufacture, especially with additional plants being built to employ more workmen.

The great demand for laborers in many sections has been followed by the demand for houses. Companies have built houses for their own workmen, and real estate men and builders have done their best to relieve the situation. However, the onward sweep of workmen has defied all efforts toward proper housing.

The use of beds in eight-hour shifts has been resorted to in such cities as Youngstown, O.; Erie, Pa.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Chester, Pa.; Newport News, Va., and many others. All of these cities were crowded even before the United States entered the war. In Erie 45 munition workers procured room and board in one five-room house, with cots in every room and in the cellar and attic. Conditions in all of these cities are becoming worse each day. One shipbuilder procured 200 badly-needed workers and lost them the next day because he could find no place for them to sleep.

A CAMOUFLAGE ARTIST

Here is a soldier who makes himself look like a wire screen so that the enemy will think he is nothing but wire. Some camouflage. The French polu who is seen here has succeeded in weaving about himself a wire entanglement and after completing the job is at work putting together a deadly grenade in a trench the French had taken from the Germans.

MOVES HOUSE 1,850 MILES

Los Angeles Family Goes to Edmonton, Can., and Takes Home With Them.

Los Angeles.—It is not an uncommon sight to encounter a house upon rollers in the middle of a street and in the process of being transported to a new location some distance away, but it is seldom that a house is taken to pieces, the parts transported more than 1,800 miles, and once more put together again. This is exactly what has happened, however, with the residence of J. E. Storer of this city. The Storer family recently decided to make its home hereafter in Edmonton, Canada, and for some reason, not generally known to the public, they took their house with them. A corps of workmen was engaged, the house taken down piece by piece, each carefully marked and done up in neat bundles and loaded upon a steamship for transportation to Vancouver, and thence by rail to Edmonton. It will not be long, therefore, until an American frame house, built of American lumber from floor to shingles, appears in a Canadian city as the residence of the Storer family.

RURAL SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED

Higher Pay in Business Pursuits Causes Shortage of Teachers in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Score another one for Mars! School authorities in Wyoming say 25 rural schools are closed in the state because teachers cannot be secured. More financial reward in the business pursuits connected with the war are luring many women and men teachers away from their profession, according to the state superintendent of instruction.

1 cup of bread crumbs, 1 cup of flour, 1 1/2 teaspoon baking 1 1/2 cup of milk, powder, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon butter. Mix dry ingredients, add the milk and beaten egg. Beat well. Add the butter beat again and bake by spoonful on a hot griddle.

Monthly and Annual Report Cards for COUNTRY SCHOOLS

The News has just printed a few hundred neat and attractive monthly, and annual report cards, that are designed to meet the requirements of the rural schools of Breckinridge county, and are, according to the teachers who are using them, complete in every way.

We are selling these cards to the teachers at 1c each, and, as hardly any school will need over 50 or 60 of them the cost is small compared with the time it usually takes to fill out the old style card.

Send your orders direct to this office with you remittance. Purchaser to pay postage.

EITHER FOOD OR STARVATION WILL WIN.

After reading what the late General von Bissing, the Prussian Military Governor had to say about food, we are more thoroughly convinced than ever that "food will win the war." This late General in speaking of the enemy said: "Starvation is a tremendous force with which we can make these people do what we want." And, you remember, the Germans captured Poland by taking food away from the inhabitants and the fittest were finally driven into Germany through hunger while the unfit were left to die.

So Mr. Hoover, who is undoubtedly a far-seeing and a level-headed man, has taken the opposite view of Gen. von Bissing's statements and is advocating that food is going to be a tremendous force whereby our allies can do what they want with Germany.

Knowing what it means to be hungry from one meal to the next and truly believing that Mr. Hoover is on the right road toward winning the war, we are going to comply with his request and have seven mentless, fourteen wheatless and twenty-one wasteless meals, and we hope that after you have read this that you will be convinced that "food will win the war" and do your part in saving it and help the Allies.

Cloverport is going to be asked to give $150 for the Y. M. C. A. war work fund. This seems a very small amount when we think of the tremendous good the Y. M. C. A. workers are doing for all the soldier boys. We are sure that you have read of the Y. M. C. A. work in the trenches, and the home boys at Camp Zachary Taylor write us how much they are helping the boys in the training camps to pass away the time and to keep constantly before the boys the high ideals for which they are fighting. What we want to do is to go down in our pockets and give until it hurts for the Y. M. C. A. work. It may save your boy or our boy from the terrible pitfalls of sin and be of everlasting good.

Thanksgiving day will soon be here, and we will have more to be thankful for on this good day than any nation on earth. The largest crops ever known are being harvested and stored away in barns and silos. Tobacco is bringing a handsome price, and corn is being sold at $1 per bushel. Hogs and cattle are in demand at fancy prices, and the usual Thanksgiving turkey is roasting so high in the way of price, that we will content ourselves on having pumpkin pie and rabbit on this good day of thanks.

We are publishing this week an Honor Roll of part of the Breckenridge county boys. We did not have the names and addresses of all the boys, therefore we could not give a complete list. We have the list of the county boys in Camp Zachary Taylor, but there are a number of boys who are in training elsewhere over the country and probably in service, it is their names we are desirous of getting. We should like very much for the families to either telephone or send us their names and addresses.

It used to be on election day in our little town the women would not come out and the mothers were afraid to send their children to school on account of the drunken men. Election day now is the same as any other day, only we haven't quite become used to seeing the women at the polls, but we believe politics will be the cleaner and better for it.

After the candidates get settled and in the harness of their respective offices we are going to look for them to fulfill all of those excellent promises they made to the voters before election. Especially are we interested in seeing Kentucky become a "bone dry" State, and we are anxious to see better schools in our county.

With a wheatless Monday, a meatless Tuesday and a fireless Wednesday, we see no reason why everyone should not get through the winter o. k., provided a pantsless day is not inaugurated.

The county election is now over. The defeated candidates are now wondering what kind of place the prevaricators all go to.

Take pride in our County Honor Roll and help us to get a complete list.

FARM AND STOCK.

G. R. Pate, of Beech Fork, had three head of young cattle to die last week with black leg; so, pronounced from the symptoms and actions of the cattle.

A. A. Arms and Ruseau Dowell have 55 acres of tobacco, 26 of Burley and 29 of dark. They estimate their Burley at 20,000 pounds and the dark at 30,000 pounds. They turned down an offer of $20 round for the Burley and $12.50 for the dark.

Charley Drury sold his crop of 12,000 pounds of Burley at $22 round. Thos. J. Triplett was the purchaser. H. W. Gross refused $25 round for his crop.

Steve Haynes and his fine little son, Gordon Lee, were in Hardinsburg Monday visiting Judge Dowell and Mrs. Dowell. Gordon is the most friendly little fellow we ever met. He is a great hand-shaker and with every shake he gives you a sweet gracious smile.

Worland Carter is building a silo on his farm near Irvington. This is a mark of progress and efficiency in farming.

Green Bandy is feeding a nice bunch of Dorsets. There are about 50 or 60 of them, fine and thrifty, and they will bring him a nice bunch of money.

Geo. Board sold Vic Robertson two 6 and 7 year old mules for $400, and three 2 year olds for $500, and bought ten thoroughbred Polled Durham heifers for $650. Mr. Board is one of the best and most successful young farmers around Irvington.

Nobe Pate has sold the farm he purchased recently in Holt's bottom to Louis Hoback, a Daviess county man, for $9,500. The sale was made through Adkisson & Seaton, real estate dealers.

Roscoe Hendry is not only an efficient mail clerk, but a good farmer. He says he has 21 acres of the best corn he ever raised on hill ground. He thinks it will make 40 bushels to the acre. A good yield for hill ground.

Hon. Chinz Royalty had on exhibition at the Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Company last week a sample of fine cigarette Burley. He has a standing offer of $27.50 per hundred for it. It is a beautiful piece of tobacco, fine color and weight. It was grown on an acre of ground in a stable lot. Here's a pointer for next year. Nothing the matter with Breckenridge county soil if you treat it right and give it the proper food and attention.

Mike Cook, of Askins, was at Hardinsburg Monday paying his taxes and subscribed for the Breckenridge News—just what all farmers are doing or ought to do to be happy and prosperous. Mr. Cook says he has 8,000 pounds of fine red tobacco with a standing offer of $12.50 round; also a fine crop of corn and plenty of hogs and cattle to feed it to.

J. F. Gray & Sons have eleven acres of red tobacco that will average 2,000 pounds to the acre. It is one of the finest crops they have ever raised. They have the reputation for growing high-grade tobacco and get top prices.

Joe Blunk lives down near Maceo, in Daviess county in the pecan section. Mr. Blunk gathered from one tree on his farm 500 pounds of nuts that brought him one hundred dollars. His average was $75 per tree.

Our old friend, Henderson Williams, the water works man of Hawesville, has made a small fortune on two farms he bought several years ago near Hickman for almost a song. He sold them last week for $24,000 cash. He returned home and picked up his good wife and took a train for Florida, where he has two sons and other farm lands. People used to say that he was fooling away his time down at Hickman trying to farm on land that overflowed. We congratulate Mr. Williams and hope he will make another $24,000 in Florida.

Squire G. A. Whittinghill is a prosperous farmer living near Glen Dean. He sold last week 19 head of hogs for $536 and is feeding 13 head for future delivery. He has 14 acres of fine prior tobacco, good corn and hay crop. His farm is for sale.

C. B. Carden, the miller at Fordville, has contracted for 5,000 bushels of corn at $1 per bushel.

Julian Brown sold Board Bros. 31 head of cattle. He also sold Hagman & Bro. 18 head, all feeders. Price private. E. C. Foote sowed ten acres of wheat and prepared the ground thoroughly before sowing, and gave it a top covering with manure and straw. Mr. Foote is a progressive young farmer and uses up to-date methods in all his work on the farm and gets good results.

Nobe Pate has bought the Mattingly Bros. farm known as the Geo. Hook place. It contains 300 acres, well improved and well located. He paid $11,000 cash for it. The sale was made through Mr. Best, manager of the Trust Department of the Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Co. Mr. Pate says he has a farm now that suits him and his wife and is well pleased.

Harvey Ditto, of Brandenburg, sold Mr. Ellis, of the Jas. C. Ellis Mule Co. of Owensboro, three mules for $420.

Board & Wilson, of Irvington, sold Wilson & Miller, of Owensboro, 183 stock hogs at 14 cents; also 10 thoroughbred Polled Durham heifers for $600.

Paul Wilson and George Board shipped Monday four loads of cattle and hogs valued at $12,000. Mr. Wilson paid out for stock last month $30,152.40, all shipped from Irvington.

Green Bandy bought the Thos. Fackler farm of 117 acres near Irvington last spring for $2,500. He has fed and shipped 30 head of hogs for $1,102, and has 1,000 bushels of corn left. Mr. Bandy says he will raise enough on this farm this year to more than pay for it. Mr. Bandy knows how to do things on the farm and get results.

"Bud" Board, of Garfield, was over at Ludlum Monday and picked up the following crops of tobacco: 4,000 pounds of Burley from Adam Basham at $22; 5,000 pounds from Neel Skeeto at $22; 6,000 from Mr. Robinson at $22; 1,000 from Mr. Brown at $21.50.

Joseph Monen was at Hardinsburg Monday getting his deed for the corner grocery house and lot occupied by Mrs. Williams. Rev. Roberts owned the building and sold it to Mr. Monen for $550 cash. It is understood that he will buy the stock of groceries from Mrs. Williams.

Jas. C. Ellis and Mr. Miller, stock dealers of Owensboro, were at Irvington Monday buying stock. There were buyers from Texas in that vicinity last week. They purchased a nice bunch of cattle down at Glen Dean. Breckenridge county is building up a reputation for fine stock all over the country. It is up to our breeders to produce high-grade stock to hold and increase their business.

The Railroads Doing Their Bit.

Washington, D. C. Nov. 3, 1917.—Fairfax Harrison, Chairman, Railroads' War Board, authorizes following statement:—

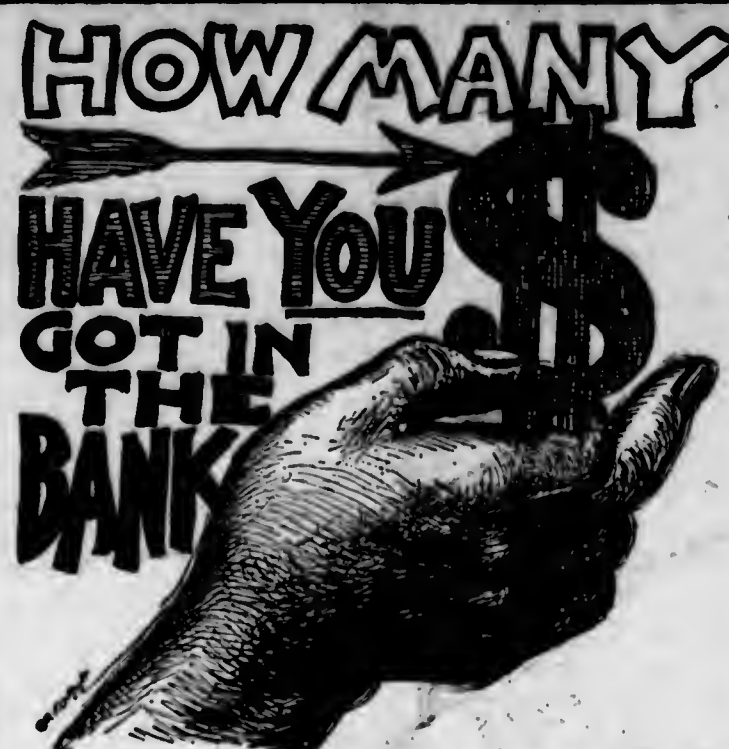

"The Railroads' War Board has received reports indicating that the efforts of the railroads and coal shippers to prevent the threatened coal shortage in the Northwest during the coming winter has been more successful than seemed possible during the summer. With five weeks or more left before the close of navigation on the Great Lakes, 23,348,100 of the 29,000,000 tons, which is estimated will be required, have already been sent to the Northwest. The commission on Car Service is now directing efforts to the work of insuring an adequate coal supply for domestic and industrial uses of coal in all other sections of the country. While a greater supply of coal has been mined and shipped than ever before, the difficulty today is that the consumption all over the country is greater than ever before."

Feeders and Breeders of Stock.

A meeting of the representative cattle feeders and breeders of Kentucky has been called by Commissioner of Agriculture, Mat S. Cohen, to convene at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Kentucky, Friday, November 9th, 1917 at two o'clock in order to discuss the importance and need of stimulating the cattle feeding and cattle breeding industries of the State, which industries at this time are at a lower ebb than at any time since the Civil War. Every cattle feeder and cattle breeder in the State is invited to be present at this meeting and express his views as to the best ways and means of meeting this emergency and stimulating these industries in order to augment the supply of beef and to better prepare for after-the-war demands, which will necessarily be made upon this country. It is hoped that all who are interested in cattle feeding or breeding may be present at this important meeting.

Mrs. A. J. Pate and Miss Jessie Pate have returned from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John Pate in Evansville.

W. L. Arnold, of Louisville, was here Tuesday.

Thirty Squirrels, Two 'Possums.

Forest Freeman and Gus May, with their two famous hunting dogs, Rowdy and Barney, went squirrel hunting Friday. They killed thirty squirrels and two 'possums in about seven hours hunt. A few nights ago they took their dogs and went up Tar Creek a coon hunting. The night was pretty cool and considerable ice formed on the creek. In the course of time their dogs barked "treed" and these two mighty coon hunters started to them. When they found the dogs they were on the creek barking through the ice at a big carp. Messrs. Freeman and May now take a can of bait and a box of fish hooks along since these two famous dogs have started "treed" fish.

Forty Hours Devotion.

Forty hours devotion began at the St. Rose Catholic church Sunday morning and continued until Tuesday noon. Rev. Father Henry had with him Rev. Father Walsh, of Louisville, and Rev. Father McNeill, of Waverly, who assisted in the devotional services.

On Thursday of last week the members of the St. Rose church observed All Saints Day and Friday All Souls Day was observed.

Women Busy Electioneering.

The women were busier electioneering in Cloverport on election day, than the men. The majority of them were mothers and they were vitally interested in the election of County School Superintendent. Those who had automobiles kept them running all day carrying the women voters to and from the poles.

With this exception the day was just like any other day and "all was quite on the Potomac" while the anxious candidates awaited the returns.

Miss Heyser Made Asst. Cashier

At the regular monthly meeting of directors of the Breckenridge-Bank of Cloverport Friday evening, Miss Ray Lewis Heyser was made the assistant cashier of the bank. Miss Heyser was the efficient assistant cashier of the Bank of Cloverport for four years, and at the time of consolidation of the two banks she was made the head bookkeeper. Miss Heyser is an excellent business woman and she is well qualified for the position which she has accepted.

"UNSELFISHNESS
SUPREME NEED OF THE HOUR."

Says Dr. Mather, Editor of Christian Advocate, in His War Sermon at the Methodist Temple, Louisville.

"The supreme need of the hour lies not in the direction of material wealth or autocratic power, but in the whole-hearted surrender of purely selfish interests to the common good of all," said the Rev. Dr. Arthur Mather, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, in a sermon at the Methodist Temple a short time ago. At the time of the merging of the Walnut and Chestnut-street churches into the congregation now known as the Union Methodist Episcopal church, South, Dr. Mather was associate pastor of the congregation to the Rev. Dr. W. F. Lloyd. He occupied the pulpit at both services yesterday.

Dr. Mather said in part:
"The history of the race is the story of the progressive conquest of man over the forces exterior to himself. He has traveled through the ages, passing from victory to victory. Such is the record contained in the Scriptures, and such is the story of all history. The animal creation lies completely at his mercy, and in the order of progress was prophetic of more difficult and vaster conquests yet to come; until, to day, we see the mighty cosmic forces of the universe harnessed for the service of, and under the practical and intelligent control of, mankind."

"Wealth has been accumulated upon a scale before unknown, but we have not learned how to use or appreciate it. It has brought fearful curses upon us and created problems which threaten the very foundations of universal well being. It has spread ruin throughout large sections of the political and commercial world and menaced the peace of thousands of homes. Knowledge has increased in the earth, and educational opportunities were never so prolific, many men knowing so many things that they don't know what they do know. We lack the wisdom to use our knowledge. We have witnessed in the last few years an enormous increase of power, but the present spectacle in Europe sadly indicates that we have failed to utilize it for the highest ends. How true it is 'We see, not yet all things put under him.'"

"May it not be that the lessons which are being impressed upon us through the tidal struggle of the present days shall become the medium through which the nations shall be brought to a knowledge of their opportunity, thus making it possible that the century which now is may witness the inauguration of the Golden Age, in which the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdom of our God and His Christ? God grant it!"—Louisville Times.

STRONG CONTRAST IN OUR GENERALS

General Pershing Is Quick on Trigger; Sibert a Tireless Worker.

EACH HAS BIG MAN'S JOB

Commander in Chief Forces Things
Along at Top Speed, While Sibert
Watches Details and Insets on Accuracy.

Field Headquarters, American Expeditionary Forces, France.—Two men, both efficient, both trained in the same school, both in the same line of service, probably never offered stronger contrast than Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the expedition, and Maj. Gen. William L. Sibert, division commander. Working as a team, whipping our troops into shape for the grueling struggle awaiting them, it would be hard to find a better combination. Each has a heroic-sized man's job and leading a great army in these days offers many man-sized jobs, writes Junius B. Wood in the Chicago News.

Pershing is of the quick-on-the-trigger style. Sibert will be sure that the powder is dry.

Pershing is of the dashing type, nervous, always on the go, like a surcharged battery, stirring everybody he comes in contact with, forcing them along at top speed. He tells what he wants. It is up to the staff he has picked to see that it is carried out. He'll be sure to know and they'll know if it isn't. He gives a sharp glance at a company at attention, picks out a man whose eyes are wandering, tells the company commander that he's wrong—a few sharp words, which are not forgotten—and the commander knows how to bring the men up to standard. He also realizes that he had better. Pershing fought Moros, administered provinces when an iron hand was necessary, rides day and night in the field and in the office holds his conferences through the day and reads reports most of the night. Sibert is a Methodical Worker.

Sibert is deliberate, methodical, a tireless worker, watching every detail, insistent that reports of his under officers be accurate, comprehensive, covering every angle, of the type that is persistent and sure. His voice is seldom raised above its quiet, even tone. He walks through the village street from his headquarters to his mess each day at the same gait and the same hour. It may be a momentous incident that will delay him a minute, or prevent him from being back at his desk at the minute he calculated on. When he inspects a company he stops in front of each man. His comments to the commanding officer are fatherly in tone. Sibert helped build the Panama canal. He is an engineer with a training for accuracy that figures down to thousandths of inches.

Once when General Pershing was making his flying trip of inspection on his first visit to the American army zone, a smile twitched the corners of his stern lips. A sergeant, one of the old-time "non-coms" who knew army regulations like his Hoyer, was drilling a platoon, mostly gawking, raw recruits. Out of the corner of his eye he saw the general and a following of officers striding across the field in his direction.

"Attention!" he shouted in stentorian tones and the men made their best efforts to assume a military pose.

"Brace up, yer standin' like a lot o' old wimmen," growled the sergeant in a tone meant only for his men. The general, half a dozen strides ahead of the rest of the party, caught it. His iron gray mustache could not cover the smile. He did not criticize that company. Instead he veered off to another with a less exacting drill sergeant.

Pershing Was Interested.
On the same field a sergeant who had won honors in bayonet fencing was drilling a company in the art. General Pershing was interested. He wanted to see that. It appealed to his love for action.

A colonel of marines who accompanied him carried a natty bamboo cane. That was just what the general needed. He took the cane. Then to the edification of the officers, also such of the men as dared glance up from their work, the general gave a demonstration of fencing, the life and death style of a battlefield. With the little cane in his right hand he jabbed, lunged, plunged, jumped forward, skipped sideways, each thrust impaling an imaginary foe.

"Vicious, vigorous, that's what's wanted," he said. "Get the man and on to the next one. There'll not be time in a battle to practice the fine points of fencing."

General Sibert says that two-thirds of the time of the staff officers of any expedition, if it is run properly, is devoted to planning for the comfort and health of the men. He can tell you how each company is billeted, how many cases of sickness there are among the expedition, what proportion of their increased pay the men are saving and how the expedition is equipped for fighting.

There are two big jobs with two big men to fill them. The dashing Pershing and the methodical Sibert make a team that will be hard to beat when their machine once starts.

The Democratic Sweater

The sweater was born an athletic aristocrat, but right away it became chummy with Tom, Dick and Harriet, with papa and mamma, with hayrack parties, hiking trips and journeys to school. It is the handiest, sturdiest all-around garment you could have.

Hoover says—
Hogs are as Vital as Shells

"In a statement reviewing the world food situation, Food Administrator Hoover said the fight against the submarine would be won if the United States and Canada could stimulate production and effect economies so as to feed the Allies from this continent without their sending a ship further afield than the American Atlantic seaboard."

"Ships, wheat and hogs are the great needs emphasized by Mr. Hoover. He said deepest concern had been caused by the fact that in spite of high prices this country's pork consumption had increased during the war until production had been outstripped, a situation which must be changed."

"If we discontinue exports," Mr. Hoover added, "we will move the German line from France to the Atlantic seaboard. Pork products have an influence in this present world situation wider than one would ordinarily attribute to them. The human body must have a certain amount of fat; we must increase production of hogs if we are to answer the world's craving."

"The production of fats is today a critical necessity for preservation of these people (the Allies). Every pound of fat is as sure of service as every bullet, and every hog is of greater value to the winning of this war than a shell."

To assist in winning this war raise hogs; nothing on the farm pays like hog raising. Heed our Nation's call; start leading off once; our lead makes pork at less than eight cents per pound.

An epitome of most important events transpiring in state

Stanford.—Lincoln county subscribed for $160,000 in liberty bonds, or $40,000 more than the county's allotment.

Lexington.—The Fayette Tobacco Warehouse Co., for $40,000, bought one of the Lexington Tobacco Warehouse Co.'s houses on the west side of South Broadway.

Lexington.—The Fayette County Tuberculosis Association bought by auction from the city of Lexington for $10,625 21 1/4 acres of land adjoining the Tuberculosis Sanatorium and Fred Douglass Park.

Paducah.—Rev. T. C. Newman, of Marion, Ky., was elected Chief Moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Kentucky, when the eighty-ninth annual meeting was held here. The synod selected Marion for the 1918 meeting.

Louisville.—Permission to work out a new schedule of freight rates on coal which will remove present inequalities and establish competition on a fair basis between Eastern and Western Kentucky mines, was granted by the Kentucky Railroad Commission in session here.

Lexington.—Lexington's biennial movement for the "Suppression of Commercialized Vice" took the form of a mass meeting, at which speeches were made by Mayor James C. Rogers, Rev. Wm. T. Punch, E. E. Snoddy, George C. Hunt, chairman of the Vice Commission, and others.

Lexington.—Pullet 77, Lady Walnut Hill, owned by Dr. R. Lindsey Ireland, of Louisville, won the national egg-laying contest, which closed on October 31 at the Experiment Station. She had 289 eggs to her credit during the last year. The world's record for production in a single year is 314.

Dawson Springs.—Carl Hudspeeth, a negro, shot and instantly killed Louis Perry, another negro, here. The trouble is said to have arisen when Perry attempted to shove the wife of Hudspeeth down a railroad embankment, and when reprimanded for his act seized an ax and attempted to strike Hudspeeth.

Lexington.—The Kentucky Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association elected officers as follows: President, Gus Albrecht, Louisville; First Vice President, C. S. Troutman, Shepherdsville; Second Vice President, A. T. Byron, Owensville; treasurer, M. D. Joran, Olive Hills; Secretary, J. M. Stone, Sturgis.

Winchester.—Sustaining a motion for peremptory instructions made by the attorney for the contestee, Jake Gay, Judge W. R. Shackelford, at the special term of the Clark Circuit Court upheld the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Gay, wealthy Clark county woman and landed proprietor, disposing of her $375,000 estate.

Mt. Sterling.—Two children, twins, were burned to death in Menifee county, near Rothwell, when the residence of Price Tabor was destroyed. An older child was rescued. Mrs. Tabor had gone to a store and left the children at home, when, it is stated, the youngsters turned on the gas and set it afire, causing an explosion.

Scottsville.—A new oil pool was opened in Allen county when Christian and others from Oklahoma drilled in a large flowing well on the Susan Moore farm seven miles north of here, near Barren river. The lucky find is ten miles from the present producing pools of the county and opens a field that bids fair to increase the large oil industry of the section.

Louisville.—Events of importance in the life of the Eighty-fourth Army Division occurred at Camp Zachary Taylor last Saturday and Sunday. Governors of Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana were present and figured in important exercises at the camp. The raising of the official flag of the division on a giant flagpole was the principal feature.

Louisville.—Reserve Corps Officers stationed at Camp Zachary Taylor have been notified of the procedure that would be followed by the government in dealing with those who were reported for inefficiency or misconduct. Gen. Haile has received authority from the War Department to convene a board of officers whenever a serious report is made against a reserve officer.

Middlesboro.—Five hundred miners employed at the Ft. Ridge Coal and Coke Co. operation went on strike on the refusal of the company to re-employ as a miner a man who had been working as a motorman and who recently had resigned.

Carleisle.—The most remarkable advances ever known are now noted in farm lands in Nicholas county. A. S. Kimbrough sold a farm of 300 acres for $33,195 for which he recently paid $24,000. Two years ago this farm sold for $10,000.

Lexington.—Amended articles increasing the capital stock of the Fayette Tobacco Warehouse Association from $50,000 to $75,000 were filed here.

Lexington.—The price of milk was advanced on November 1 by dairymen supplying customers in Lexington from 12 to 14 cents a quart and from 7 to 8 cents a pint.

Versailles.—Chester Nave, 12 years old, was shot in the head and killed near Versailles when a rifle in the hands of his playmate, Edwin Wilhoite, 13, was accidentally discharged.

Paducah.—The Cumberland Presbyterian Synod of Kentucky adjourned its annual meeting after one of the most successful conventions it has held in several years. The meeting next year will be held in Bowling Green.

Ashland.—Mrs. F. G. Fugitt awoke from her sleep at an early hour with a fear that something had happened to her husband, an employee of the Ashland Iron and Mining Company's steel plant. An hour later his body was caught by a crane and his life instantly crushed out.

Lexington.—Expressing satisfaction that, after looking into the ballot boxes for seven precincts, a recount of the vote cast at the municipal primary election would not change the result as already announced, Frank Ott, Commissioner of Finance, asked the Court to dismiss the action.

Georgetown.—An iron smokestack on the plant of the Royal Spring Ice Co. was blown over by the high winds, and in falling crushed in the roof of the building. The guy wires of the stack fell across the street car wires and knocked out the circuit break at the Electric Light & Power Co.

Louisville.—The Louisville Trust Co., through A. G. Stith, secretary, and Robert L. Page, counsel, filed in the county court its report as one of the administrators named by County Judge Samuel W. Greene for the estate of Mrs. R. W. Bingham, who died ninety days before the report was made.

Ashland.—Ben L. Yohe, of Omaha, Neb., arrived in Ashland and positively identified the body of the man who was found dead in a room on Fifteenth street as that of his brother, Marcus H. Yohe, who has been missing from his home for thirty years. The dead man has a wife and a son and a daughter living in St. Louis.

Barbourville.—A number of excellent petroleum strikes during the past week in Southeastern Kentucky fields greatly encourage the trade in that direction. The fields of Knox, Whitley, Wayne, McCreary and Pulaski have all shown excellent results, in some instances important extensions being added to the productive area.

Maysville.—A negro known as Black Jack, is in jail here pending an investigation by the coroner as to who is responsible for the death of John Crosby, a farmer, who was poisoned at his home near here. Crosby became ill immediately after eating his breakfast and died in a few hours. His death was caused by having been poisoned by Paris green.

Louisville.—Responding to Presidential proclamation and a special request of Major General Harry S. Hale, men of the Eighty-fourth National Army Division at Camp Taylor joined in prayer for the success of American arms, at Camp Taylor, last Sunday. Continuous religious services through the day were attended by surprising numbers of the drafted men.

Louisville.—Relief from the threatened coal famine in Louisville was seen in the appointment of Wiley B. Bryan as Federal Fuel Administrator for Kentucky. Mr. Bryan will enter immediately on the task of equalizing coal distribution so that hardships may be avoided. Mr. Bryan was born in Nashville. He has been a resident of Louisville for ten years.

Louisville.—The Fiscal Court authorized County Attorney Scott Bullitt to bring suit to enjoin County Judge Samuel W. Greene appointing 250 county patrolmen for service at the polls on election day. Hearing of the Court's contemplated action, Magistrate Schulman, Muenninghoff, O'Brien, Dacher and Wheeler called a special session of the Court and invited Judge Greene to come before the Court and announce his plans.

Louisville.—Officers of the division staff at Camp Zachary Taylor began the preparation of an exhaustive list of "conscientious objectors," "absolutists" and men in the ranks considered as opposed to the war. Attention is to be directed to this list, especially to "absolutists." "Men not only opposed to the war, but to any kind of service, including noncombatants, and to others outwardly willing to serve, but who give evidence of being dangerous to their country."

Frankfort.—Bon Priestly Johnson, son of Attorney L. F. Johnson, of this city, one of Frankfort's two men in the National Army, was one of the first men promoted at Camp Zachary Taylor. He has been made a corporal in the Field Artillery.

Lexington.—The trial of Private George King, member of Co. C, 149th Infantry, formerly Second Kentucky, charged with slaying Police Sergeant Chris Kolhaven in Newport last summer, will be by confessional trial.

UNDER FIRE IN FRENCH TRENCHES

Correspondent Describes Visit to Battle Line in Argonne Forest.

NOISIEST THING IS BIRDS

Germans Drop an Occasional Poorly Aimed Shell—Officer Calls It Dull Life—Visit Acceptable Break in Monotony of Daily Life.

Somewhere in France.—Just now the Argonne forest is no place for a man aching for a scrap. Vauquois Plateau, where thousands of French and Germans met death in bloody combat, is as quiet on these sunny autumn days as the Poio Grounds in midwinter. Barring an occasional thunder roll from far away batteries, and an hourly reciprocal bombardment by French and German guns, the noisiest thing that stirs the valleys is the twitter of the birds.

A young French officer, returning to his trench sector from a village a short distance behind the front, escorted three correspondents to a position from which a wide stretch of the Argonne front could be easily seen. Our car sped through an utterly deserted village, devastated by the retreating Germans after the battle of the Marne and more completely ruined by later bombardments.

The road led straight out into a great multiphase bordered by wooded hills, criss-crossed by the ruins of old trenches.

Batteries in Woods. "See those sticks?" said our escort, pointing to a row plainly visible to the naked eye along the top of a hill to our left. "There are the Boches' barbed wire and trenches. He has a few batteries in that woods. If he was energetic he might give us a few shells."

The German positions were getting uncomfortably nearer. We left the car under a slight rise in the ground that hid it from German observation, and started on foot across a field to seek cover behind a hill held by the French. We had barely clambered out of the car when a shell burst 600 yards ahead in a field near the road over which our car had been speeding.

"Well, he did try one on us," laughed the French officer, "but it was a bad one. I'll wire the Kaiser to take away his Iron Cross."

Over in the dugouts behind the French trench line an assortment of soldiers were whittling away at knickknacks, playing cards or taking cat naps. The dull boom of guns came across intervening hills from the Verdun front, only a few kilometers away. Our escorting officer led the way on up over the hilltop past an anti-aircraft gunner who wished us "bon jour" and lamented because he hadn't seen a German for many days.

At an artillery observation post our coming was an event. The officer in charge confided that it was a dull life. The Germans hadn't sent a shell his way for a long time. He was glad to meet newcomers and might glad to break the monotony of a day's work by pointing out the Boche trenches in the valley below and the great Vauquois mine crater on the yellow side of Vauquois plateau. No sign of life came from trenchland. At one point where a V-shaped German trench seemed almost to run into a V-shaped French trench—only 60 feet separated them—there had been a little grenade tossing a few hours earlier, when police and Boches needed warming up exercises after breakfast. That was all.

Back we went to the officers' dugout for quite palatable war bread and wine.

"War out here," he said as we were leaving, "moves like molasses."

FEEDING SOLDIERS IN CAMP ENORMOUS TASK

Chicago.—Soldiers in training at the 16 National army cantonments in the United States require approximately 2,500 carloads of food daily, according to statistics given out here by the railroad war board. It is estimated that at least five pounds of food is needed each day for each of the 1,000,000 men now training for the National army and National Guard divisions.

Railroad executives are giving close attention to transportation problems presented by the task of moving this great quantity of foodstuffs.

The task involves the supplying of all the necessities of life for 16 non-productive cities of a population of 40,000 each, and 56 smaller cities ranging in population from 800 to 8,000.

JOFFRE PRAISES OUR SOLDIERS

Marshal of France With General Pershing Inspects American Forces.

CALL HERO OF MARNE 'PAPA'

United States Soldiers Wild With Enthusiasm as French Idol Visits Training Camp.—Pleased With What He Sees.

American Field Headquarters, France.—After a two days' visit with the American troops Marshal Joffre departed for home, his paternity enlarged by a good many American sons. "Papa" Joffre is not only "papa" to the poilus now, but the American soldiers claim him too.

The white-haired savior of the Marne was unanimously, excitedly greeted by the American soldiers everywhere.

Accompanied by General Pershing, Joffre swept through all the American camps and left the zone in a state of almost frenzied excitement and enthusiasm.

Stands With Pershing.

Thousands of Samuels glimpsed the white-haired French idol for the first time when they were passing in review before him. They gazed steadily, in response to the ringing command, "Eyes left," upon a stout figure in red breeches standing by Pershing's side.

Beginning at ten o'clock in the morning, Pershing showed off his first contingent. Thousands of weather-beaten, perfectly conditioned American fighters, their ranks interspersed with flags and bands, swept in waves across the muddy tableland and dropped below the hill crest. A moment later they reappeared momentarily in the valley beyond where their mud-colored ranks merged into the autumn haze until perfectly blended and lost sight of.

The review was a thrilling panorama of hobbling, undulating rows of steel helmets as far as the eye could reach. When the men had all passed by Marshal Joffre made a brief address to the officers.

After considering the various acts of Germany, the marshal said, American drew the sword and no one in France doubted she would do great things. He referred to the great power of America in men, resourcefulness and natural wealth and continued:

"In every way you have realized our hopes. The best proof of your earnestness, your determination to help win this war against autocracy may be read in your eyes as I look into them. Under the direction of General Pershing you are getting ready to face the enemy. Guided by that eminent chief, guided by the zeal with which your great new armies are being perfected, you will move forward to gather the laurels and glory that lie before you.

Building Great War Machine.

"All the news I have from America is to the effect that there, as well as here, you are working in the same intense manner. Guided by such men as General Pershing, your secretary of war, Mr. Baker, and your chief of staff, General Bliss, you are rapidly going ahead, and I am confident our enemy will see before him one of the most formidable war machines which could ever be imagined.

"Our enemy believed in his foolish pride that he could dominate the universe. Your reply to him has already been most eloquent—more eloquent than he ever dreamed. You have come here to join the allies in delivering humanity from the would-be yoke of German intolerance. Let us continue to be united and victory surely will be ours."

Joffre and Pershing, with Generals Sibert, Bundy and other generals, then entered automobiles, and were whisked away for miles through a score of hamlets where women, children and old men thronged the roadsides to cheer the miracle man of 1914 and the great soldiers of the United States, their newest allies.

NAVY COOKS WILL BE TAUGHT IN BIG HOTELS

New York.—One thousand enlisted men from the navy soon will be cooking meals for guests of New York's big hotels. Hotel managers decided at a meeting of the Hotel Association of New York city to meet the shortage of cooks in the navy and transport service by turning the kitchens of this city's hostels into training schools.

Oscar Tschirky of the Waldorf, promised to put ten uniformed tars in his kitchen to learn the art of serving meals. Sailors in lots of ten or more will be set to work as soon as possible in the kitchens of the Claridge, the McAlpin and other hotels.

Sixteen-Foot Corn Stalk.

Columbus, Ind.—Charles Bowers, a farmer living near this city, has a corn stalk that measures 16 feet 1 inch from the ground to the top. The stalk is more than 5 inches in circumference. It has two ears of corn, each of which measures 18½ inches in length.

KEEPS RECORD OF MEN

Army of Clerks for Files in War Department.

United States Profits by British Difficulties in Checking Up Casualty Reports.

Washington.—A small army of clerks, operating files covering 40,000 square feet of floor space, soon will be employed by the statistical division of the war department to keep the individual record of every man wearing Uncle Sam's uniform.

The main purpose of the statistics is to provide an accurate means of checking casualty reports. Incidentally, however, the complete army history of the men will be recorded.

Maj. J. J. Jones has charge of the central office in Washington. Another will be established in Europe. Weekly reports will be made to central offices by divisional bureaus, which in turn will receive information from three members of each regiment, specially detailed to the work.

Two filing systems will be maintained. One, containing in alphabetical order the names of every man in the service, will serve as a check in referring to the regimental files.

The record of each man will contain the name and address of his nearest relative, to serve as an aid to prompt transmission of cable reports of deaths and serious illness. The war department also will undertake to give relatives reports of military funerals, location of burial places and information concerning Americans held in enemy prison camps.

Until the Red Cross came to its aid, the British government experienced great difficulty in handling casualty reports, and by the establishment of this system the war department intends to avoid similar confusion.

DOG VETERAN OF WAR

"Boyeau," the German police dog, shown in the picture with Sam Burbank, his master and bugler of the Columbia War Hospital in New York city, is a veteran of the European war, and if the Columbia unit is ordered to the front, may see service again.

Boyeau was drawing a mitraillette along with three other dogs at the beginning of the war. He was a member of a French company. Somewhere in Belgium he came under German fire and was wounded in the right foreleg. His companions were killed, but Boyeau stuck to his gun and dragged it into position. He was taken to a hospital and his broken leg was set and gradually healed. Then he was brought to America and purchased by Mr. Burbank, who keeps him at the hospital as a constant companion.

HEALTH STRAPS BURN MANY

Celluloid Street Car Contrivances Ignite and Singe Passengers in Newark, N. J.

New York.—The Public Service Railways company of Newark, N. J., recently installed in its trolley cars celluloid "straps" for the strap-hangers, this as a hygienic measure.

A car from Newark to South Orange blew out a fuse at Howard street and South Orange avenue. Instantly every one of the new straps burst into flame. People got off the cars the best way they could, but several were burned. The fire was put out by the fire department after it had done considerable damage.

SEATTLE WOMEN WOULD ARM

Discuss Defensive Measures Against Woman Sluggers at Mass Meeting.

Seattle, Wash.—At a mass meeting of Seattle women held to discuss defensive measures against a woman slugging, who has caused a reign of terror in this city and who is believed by many to be the man guilty of the murder of Miss Ruth de Merritt and Mrs. Florence Wehn, it was suggested that all peddlers and others who make a living by going from door to door be interned, chain locks placed on all residence doors and all women armed for the duration of the emergency.

FLUX AND REFLUX OF GERMAN ARMY

English Writer Shows How Forces Were Swung to and Fro.

WEST TOTAL NEAR MAXIMUM

On Sept. 1 the Fighting Troops There, He Figures, Reached 1,369 Battalions—Roumania's Entry Causes Swift Change.

With the French Armies.—The flux and reflux of the German forces on the western and eastern fronts, together with their rapid augmentation on either side whenever occasion called for an increase of effectives, have been now clearly set forth. The figures given refer to the various phases of the war, starting with the invasion of Belgium in August, 1914, going right through the allied offensives of 1915 and 1916, the German operations before Verdun, the movements on the Russian and Roumanian frontiers, and concluding with the position as it was on September 1 this year.

It will be seen that in 1914 the Germans threw onto the western front, including the army that forced its way through Belgium, 1,190 battalions of infantry; while on the Russian front, from which they did not want much activity, they left only 322 battalions. By September 1 this year these totals had been enormously raised, for on that date they had on the Franco-Belgian-British front no fewer than 1,369 battalions, while on the eastern front they had in position 965 battalions. Thus at the present moment they are employing 2,334 battalions on both fronts, whereas at the opening of hostilities only 1,512 were engaged.

From One Side to Other.

A glance at the totals of the battalions in line on the two fronts at different periods of the war is interesting, as showing how the principal effort of the Germans has swung from time to time from one side to the other.

The attack on Belgium and France absorbed the attention of the German staff when war broke out in August, 1914, and the Russian front was left to a very great extent to take care of itself. At that time the infantry effectives were disposed as follows:

Divisions of 4 Rgts. each, Battns. 965 1,190
On the western front..... 965 1,190
On the eastern front..... 322 322

The battle of the Yser in November, 1914, caused the Germans to intensify their effort in the West. They brought up their effectives to a higher total there, but at the same time they were becoming rather anxious about the Russian front, and therefore added to the number of their troops on that side, making the position as follows:

Divisions of 4 Rgts. Battns. 1,369 1,369
On the western front..... 1,369 1,369
On the eastern front..... 965 965

Then came the Russian offensive, which compelled Germany to look round in order to find more troops to meet it. She therefore reduced her effectives somewhat on the western front and sent them eastward, at the same time bringing some more battalions from the interior to add to those on the Russian frontier. In September, 1915, by which time the maximum of the German effort had been reached on that side, the position stood:

Divisions of 3 or 4 Rgts. Battns. 1,369 1,369
On the western front..... 1,369 1,369
On the eastern front..... 965 965

Verdun was the next great movement the Germans had in view, and in order to win a victory there they had changed the disposition of their infantry effectives by bringing many divisions westward, so that the position in June, 1916, was:

Divisions of 3 or 4 Rgts. Battns. 1,369 1,369
On the western front..... 1,369 1,369
On the eastern front..... 965 965

Brings Further Changes.

A fresh newening of activity in the East was occasioned when Roumania came into the war. This brought further changes in the proportional strength of the German forces on the respective fronts. In December, 1916, they were as follows:

Divisions of 3 or 4 Rgts. Battns. 1,369 1,369
On the western front..... 1,369 1,369
On the eastern front..... 965 965

In July, 1917, which saw the opening of both British and French offensive movements, the Germans were compelled to re-enforce their armies on the western front, and this brought with it a reduction of their strength on the eastern frontier. The totals were then:

Divs. generally of 3 Rgts. Battns. 1,369 1,369
On the western front..... 1,369 1,369
On the eastern front..... 965 965

Owing to events connected with the revolution in Russia, Germany threw some more troops into the eastern field of operations, and on September 1 the situation was as follows:

Divisions of 3 Rgts. Battns. 1,369 1,369
On the western front..... 1,369 1,369
On the eastern front..... 965 965

These figures refer merely to the troops engaged in the fighting line, and leave out of account those in garrison in the interior of the country, as well as those on the lines of communication.

At the beginning of the war the strength of the German battalion was about 1,000 men. On the assumption that this strength has been maintained the correspondent's statement indicates the presence of 1,369,000 German troops on the western front in September.

ORDNANCE NEEDS MEN

Many Posts Open to Americans in That Service.

Chief Officer Announces That Opportunities for Technical Men With Unit in France Are Good.

Paris.—The ordnance department of the United States army in France wishes to correct an erroneous impression prevailing—that, by reason of being a particularly desirable branch of the service, it already has enlisted its full quota. On the contrary, there are openings in every class, from private to the highest ranking noncommissioned officer.

Enlistments are required to fill the positions of clerks, stenographers, typists and general office help, both at headquarters and the various depots throughout France. Many armorers and carpenters are also needed, and a prompt warrant for a grade commensurate with ability displayed is assured.

An especially attractive opportunity is presented to technical men and graduates of mechanical schools. The ordnance department offers to such men a chance to specialize along the lines of their individual training. Promotions to the grade of commissioned officer are made on the merits of the work done, and many enlisted men have won this reward solely upon the grounds of the ability and training they possessed.

Enlistments will be accomplished in the usual manner and under the military rules and regulations observed by the recruiting offices in the United States.

Men who are eligible and desirous of enlisting should make application at once, writing direct to the chief ordnance officer, American expeditionary forces, France, who will make all arrangements and notify the applicants accordingly.

TOTES GUN AT FUNERAL

About two hundred priests, Sinn Fein M. P.'s, the Countess Markievicz and thousands of young men and young girls, many of whom were in costume, attended the funeral of Thom Ashe, the Sinn Fein leader who died following a hunger strike, who was buried at Glasnevin cemetery in Dublin. The picture shows Countess Markievicz, prominent Irish chiefness, carrying a revolver. She marched in the cortege attired in a costume of green.

NURSES DOING THEIR PART

Two Thousand Are Now Engaged in Active Nursing Service—Thousands Await Orders.

Washington.—This is how the trained nurses of the United States are doing their part of the war work. The figures are furnished by Miss Jane A. Delano, Chairman of the Red Cross nursing committee.

More than 2,000 registered Red Cross nurses are now engaged in active nursing service.

Two thousand more are teaching and training classes for work. Nine thousand others are enrolled and are waiting orders to take up their part of the nation's burden.

One thousand more, every month, are registering and volunteering to work whenever needed.

Over in France these Red Cross nurses stand only a little lower than the saints in the eyes of the sufferers. Maj. Grayson M. P. Murphy, Red Cross commissioner for France, the other day cabled these words:

"One American nurse has been in charge of 120 beds for sick children for eight months, and the results with meager equipment have been marvelous."

Advantages of Buying Advertised Goods

Merchandise that is advertised moves much faster than that which is not, and therefore the stock is kept new and up-to-date. There are no shopworn, slow sellers to be disposed of in the store that keeps the advertising columns at work selling goods.

And you can always depend upon the quality of advertised articles. The merchant's reputation is back of his merchandise and he cannot jeopardize it by misrepresenting his goods even the least bit.

Furthermore, the dealer's newspaper announcement usually offers money-saving bargains, and every thrifty person should take full advantage of such opportunities. Read the advertisements in

Keep Up The Good Work!

E. M. Blanford whose home is in Los Angeles, Cal., sent in his renewal for the Breckinridge News and writes that he is to busy prose cutting slakers and German spies to write much news.

Since Mr. Blanford is engaged in such a tremendous and noble task it is not necessary for him to make apologies for not writing the only things that his friends need ask of him is, keep up the good work.

Taft A Newspaper Man.

William Howard Taft followed Theodore Roosevelt into the White House. Now he has followed him into the newspaper business.

On November 1 Mr. Taft joined the staff of the Philadelphia Public Ledger as contributing editor.

Some years ago there was a great deal of public speculation as to what we should do with our ex-presidents. At that time Theodore Roosevelt told the members of the New York Press club that he was one of the ex-presidents the public need not worry about.

"This ex president," said Roosevelt "is entirely capable of looking after himself, thank you."—American Press.

2,000 Nurses Sent Abroad.

Washington, Nov. 2.—About 2,000 Red Cross nurses have been sent to Europe. Red Cross headquarters announced today. Fifteen thousand nurses have been enrolled, a number estimated as sufficient for an army of 1,500,000 men. Approximately 1,000 nurses are being added every month.

In order to meet the demand for more nurses, if it should become necessary, there has been a slight modification in the requirements. The more important change contemplated is a lowering of the age limit for specially qualified persons.

Post-Season Football.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 2.—Announcement was made today that the Purdue University football team would play a post-season game with a team composed of National Army men at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., on December 1. Ward Lambert, formerly basketball and assistant football coach at Purdue, is coaching the soldier team. All proceeds will be turned over to the cantonment mess fund.

R. C. Eller Cited as Hero.

The following article is clipped from a Philadelphia paper and was sent to the Breckinridge News by Mrs. R. C. Eller, of Philadelphia. Mr. Eller was chief quartermaster of the destroyer, Cassin, and was cited as one of the heroes along with twenty one other men.

Washington, Oct. 23.

Commander Walter H. Vernou is believed to have saved the American destroyer Cassin from destruction in the encounter with a German submarine in the war zone on October 16, by his coolness and quick action. The Navy Department yesterday received from Vice Admiral Sims the full report of the fight.

Before she had an opportunity to fire a shot, the destroyer was hit on the stern by the torpedo, which killed Ormond Kelly Ingram, gunner's mate, slightly wounded five others of the crew and put one engine out of commission.

The following men were cited by Vice Admiral Sims for showing coolness and qualities of leadership:

R. C. Eller, chief quartermaster; wife, Sally Eller, 175 Waverly avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

William Joseph Cunningham, coxswain; mother, Jessie M. Cunningham, 6108 Carnegie avenue, Cleveland, O.

The Cassin had been searching half an hour for a submarine, first sighted five miles away, when Commander Vernou suddenly saw a torpedo 400 yards distant and making for the ship at great speed. Realizing that his vessel was in imminent danger of being hit amidship and broken in two, the commander ordered full speed ahead and the wheel hard over. The patrol boat was just clear of the torpedo's path when the projectile broached on the surface, turned sharply and hit its objective.
